Abbi Jacobson is an actress, comedian, and writer best known for her work on the Comedy Central show Broad City. In her new memoir, Carry This, Jacobson recounts her experiences growing up, coming out, and finding her own path. It is a story that is both heartbreaking and hilarious, and it is sure to stay with you long after you finish it.

Jacobson's writing is honest, raw, and often laugh-out-loud funny. She writes about her childhood in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, her experiences with bullying and homophobia, and her struggles with mental health. She also writes about her relationship with her family and friends, her work on Broad City, and her journey to self-acceptance.

Carry This is a powerful and moving memoir that will resonate with anyone who has ever struggled with their identity, their relationships, or their mental health. It is a story of resilience, hope, and the power of finding your own voice.
