What are Deathbed Experiences?

Deathbed experiences are a wide range of phenomena that can occur in the hours or days leading up to death. These experiences can include:

- Seeing deceased loved ones
- Feeling a sense of peace and calm

- Having visions of heaven or hell
- Experiencing out-of-body experiences
- Communicating with angels or other spiritual beings

Deathbed experiences are not limited to any particular religion or culture. They have been reported by people of all ages, backgrounds, and beliefs.

Evidence for the Afterlife

There is a growing body of evidence that suggests that deathbed experiences are real and that they provide a glimpse into the afterlife. This evidence includes:

- Near-death experiences: Near-death experiences (NDEs) are experiences that occur when someone comes close to death but is ultimately revived. NDEs often involve seeing deceased loved ones, feeling a sense of peace and calm, and having visions of heaven or hell.
- Out-of-body experiences: Out-of-body experiences (OBEs) are experiences in which someone feels like they are outside of their body. OBEs can occur during deathbed experiences, NDEs, and other times.
- Communication with the dead: Many people have reported communicating with deceased loved ones after they have died. This communication can occur through dreams, visions, or other means.

The evidence for the afterlife is compelling. Deathbed experiences, NDEs, OBEs, and communication with the dead all suggest that consciousness survives death.
