Description :

Consumer Finance: Markets and Regulation is the first law school text to focus on consumer financial services, products and their regulation. Structured around clear expository text and realistic problem sets, the book provides comprehensive coverage of the regulation of consumer credit, payments, and financial data markets by federal, state, and private law, including detailed coverage of the authority of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), a powerful new federal regulatory agency. The book also acquaints students with the full range of consumer financial products, how they operate, the risks and policy issues they raise, and their regulation. In so doing, the book provides an applied look at how regulatory agencies work, offering students a practical look at how statutes and regulations interact and how regulatory agencies enforce them. Professors and students will benefit from Detailed coverage of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), a new federal regulatory agency with broad authority over consumer credit, payment, deposit, and financial data markets. Comprehensive treatment of consumer credit regulation, including mortgages, credit cards, auto loans, student loans, and small dollar loans, as well as credit disclosures, usury, and fair lending regulation. State-of-the-art coverage of consumer payment systems, with detailed coverage of electronic payment systems (credit cards, debit cards, ACH) and mobile wallets. Coverage of topics not found elsewhere in law school curriculum, including anti-money laundering regulations, behavioral economics, lending laws, and consumer financial data privacy and data security. Free online statutory supplement. Teaching materials include: Thirty-seven problem sets, Maturing problem sets based on real world situations that confront lawyers for consumers, financial services businesses, and regulatory agencies. Actual legal documents, such as arbitration agreements, deposit agreements, a payday loan agreement, and a uniform mortgage note and security instrument. A range of administrative agency materials (complaints, consent orders, speeches, guidance, supervisory highlights, and so on), as well as traditional case materials with extensive expository text. A detailed teacher's manual keyed to problem sets.
