On the evening of August 25, 2017, a devastating tornado tore through Rockport. The tornado was an EF3, with winds up to 165 miles per hour. It destroyed hundreds of homes and businesses, and left a path of destruction in its wake.

Harvey and Tincup were at home when the tornado hit. They huddled together in a closet, praying that they would survive. The tornado ripped their house apart, and Harvey and Tincup were thrown into the air. They landed in a field, dazed and injured.

Harvey was badly injured, but he was more concerned about Tincup. He searched for his dog, calling his name over and over again. Finally, he heard a faint bark. Tincup had been thrown into a tree, but he was alive.

Harvey and Tincup were both injured, but they were alive. They had survived the tornado together, and their bond was stronger than ever.

The next day, Harvey and Tincup returned to their home. It was completely destroyed, but they were grateful to be alive. They began the long process of rebuilding their lives, and Tincup was by Harvey's side every step of the way.

Tincup and the Tornado is a heartwarming and inspiring story about the unbreakable bond between a man and his dog. It is a story of survival, resilience, and the incredible power of the human-animal connection.
